Philosophy on Discipline

The word discipline comes from the same source as the word disciple. It suggests that the child being disciplined is learning to copy the adult doing the disciplining.

At Community Day Nursery we provide methods of positive discipline so that children may develop their own problem solving and choice making skills. Our aim is to convey through the disciplinary methods we use, such basic values as respect, trust, and caring for others.

Our methods of discipline include:

1. Verbalizing children's feelings and behavior to them.
2. Redirecting a child to another area of play.
3. Providing a "time out" period.
4. Offering understanding and emotional support.
